A MESSAGE FROM FR. STEVE

It's Great to Be Back . . .

My time away was wonderful. Thanks for your prayers. It was very restful, renewing, and a deeper invitation into the beauty and simplicity of God. Taking bike rides, hikes, and spending time in my kayak, along with rest, time for prayer, and good conversations with some Calumet friends and my brother Dan, made my time truly re-creational. Though the weather was perfect, I stayed long enough that I was very happy to return. That's not my life. This is. Thanks for being a great parish for me to serve. It's a joy to be pastor of such a great parish.

Mental Prayer

During my time away, I enjoyed the slow pace of life and the unbounded calendar. The only fixed moment in my days was the Mass at Our Lady of the Pines. But other than that, I was free to pray, read, reflect, and recreate as I pleased. It was an invitation to contemplation of God's goodness and the beauty around me.

Don't Just Do Something, Sit There.

On vacation, it's easier to take more time for prayer, at least for a priest! For those with young families, it's more of a challenge. But prayer, the sort of contemplative prayer called "mental prayer," is important for all of us. And not just when we're on vacation. I want to encourage all of us to take more time than we think we can afford to prayer. Here's a brief summary written by Sean O'Neill, and a link to my homily:

In this homily, Fr. Steve talks about the importance of daily mental prayer and encourages us to spend an extra 5 minutes per day spending time with God in this way. Many of us do not think we have time to do mental prayer. For much of the time our prayer can tend to focus on petitions, but do we ever spend time opening ourselves to a personal encounter with Him? Fr. Steve shares an experience of his own in which he extended his prayer time and the Lord gave the message, "I covet these times." The Lord wants to spend time with us. Let us take more time than we think we can afford.

Fr. Steve then read an excerpt from a book by the English-born Irish Dominican, Fr. Herbert McCabe:

People often complain of "distractions" during prayer. Their mind goes wandering off onto other things. This is nearly always due to praying for something you do not really much want; you just think it would be proper and respectable and "religious" to want it. So you pray high-mindedly for big but distant things like peace in Northern Ireland or you pray that your aunt will get better from the flu – when in fact you do not much care about these things; perhaps you ought to, but you don't. And so your prayer is rapidly invaded by distractions arising from what you really do want – promotion at work, let us say. Distractions are nearly always your real wants breaking in on your prayer for edifying but bogus wants. If you are distracted, trace your distraction back to the real desires it comes from and pray about these. When you are praying for what you really want you will not be distracted. People on sinking ships do not complain of distractions during their prayer. (McCabe, God, Christ, and Us, p. 8).

Often we ask God for things that are not good for us. But as Fr. McCabe notes, when we ask, he either gives us what we ask for, or he gives us something better! God knows our need. Let us persevere in prayer and allow God to give us what we really need, what is really good for us. The audio of that homily can be found at <https://corlansing.org/homilies/encounter-god-in-prayer>

And here's Sean's summary of my three part series on "mental prayer": In March of this year, Fr. Steve gave a three-part introduction to the Christian discipline of mental/contemplative prayer. He addressed the theology and practice of mental prayer, and gave "homework" for "beginners" (and we're all beginners, says St. Teresa of Avila) as an aid to growing in our ability to open our hearts and minds to the Lord in prayer. The audio and handouts for those three talks can be found at <https://corlansing.org/mental-prayer>

That Man Is You

This weekend, members of the leadership team of the Wednesday morning Men's Breakfast group will invite other men to consider joining them for a new program called "That Man Is You," which addresses practical issues that men contend with in life today. There is more information contained on the insert from this weekend's bulletin. We will get started breakfast at 6:00 a.m., for those who would like to come early. The program will begin with a video at 6:30, which lasts about a half hour, followed by small group discussion. It's a great opportunity for fellowship and growth in faith. Consider joining us. We will get started with this program on September 11.

Ox Roast Festival and Raffle Tickets

As the Ox Roast draws near, I want to thank all those who have faithfully, year after year, served the parish and community to make the Ox Roast such a great success. John Gordon and his team have been meeting for months. They are, as always, looking for volunteers to cover the myriad areas of responsibility that are part of the Ox Roast. Please see the information in the bulletin about how you might be able to help us serve the parish and community this September 6-8. The Ox Roast is a fellowship and financial opportunity for our parish and community. Please plan to attend and bring your family, friends, and neighbors too. Please sell (or buy) the tickets that you've been sent, or return those to the office.

2019/2020 Adult Choir Season

The Resurrection Adult Choir will begin its new choir season with a rehearsal on Wednesday September 11th at 7:00 pm with the first sung Mass on September 15th. For new singers wishing to newly join the choir, auditions can be set up by contacting David Stattelman, the Director of Music by phone (517) 614-1736 or email dstattelman@corlansing.org. You can also call the office. Auditions will not be a scary affair but are really set up so that we can get an understanding of your sound and your ability to develop as a singer.

For Lansing Catholic Students interested in the joining the choir, this can count towards your Lansing Catholic Service Requirement for graduation. It is also a very good way for music students to further their study of solfege and theory along with developing skill and proficiency in the reading of chant notation and modern notation; all which will be fundamental in secondary and college music courses.
