PARISH MISSION STATEMENT:

Located in the heart of the City of Lansing, the Church of the Resurrection exists to help everyone in our parish family live in the light and hope of the Resurrection. Encouraged by our experience of God's love, we help others come to know and love Jesus in a personal way. Guided by God's truth, we offer answers to life's real challenges. Inspired by the Holy Spirit, we help each other become mature disciples of Christ who will utilize our gifts to spread the Good News of Jesus in word and deed.

Reflection on My “Political Homilies”

As most people who regularly attend the Church of the Resurrection know, one of the burdens that I bear, which I believe to be from the Lord, is to be a protector and prophet in my role as pastor of this flock. I readily admit that there have been (and will surely be future) occasions when my tone and message have “crossed a line,” as it were, and become too political. At least some people have claimed that, and I will agree that there have been times when I have done so. I addressed some current events at the 8:00 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. Mass that seemed apropos in light of Sunday’s Gospel, especially when Jesus said the following: “Blessed are you when people hate you, and when they exclude and insult you, and denounce your name as evil on account of the Son of Man.” In that context, I referenced the controversy at the Ambassador Bridge in Windsor and the events in Ottawa. I mentioned that I was supportive of the truckers in their stand for freedom. If you have paid any attention to the media coverage of the Freedom Convoy, you have surely heard allegations that the “Freedom Convoy” was/is made up of “insurrectionists,” “Neo-Nazis,” “misogynists,” “White Supremacists,” “racists,” etc. These allegations are false. They run counter to first-hand (video) reports from the street-level. What do the protestors want? They say want the vaccination mandates to be lifted. They are doing so because they don’t believe the unvaccinated should be considered second-class citizens, or “untouchables.”

Not Suffering For Christ

Though I mentioned the stand-off in light of last Sunday’s gospel, I made clear to say that the Truckers and their supporters were not suffering for Christ. But they are suffering for principles of what is right, just, and true. The reason it seemed appropriate to mention was that these recent events make manifest the reality of exclusion, insults, and denunciation as evil.

Suffering for Christ

We will soon, I said, be denounced because of our stand on matters of human sexuality, and they will demonize us, and seek to cancel us. I saw (and still see) the protest in Canada as a wake-up call for us that the warnings of Rod Dreher (and Alexander Solzhenitsyn) in “Live Not By Lies” are as timely as anything could be. The actions by Justin Trudeau and Doug Ford reveal a possible future for us, I said, and we do well to be sure that we live not by lies. The point, of course, is not to take power, to violently resist, but to peacefully protest, in ways that Martin Luther King and the Civil Rights movement did, to stand for what is right, just, and true, come what may. Come whatever may.

Watchtower

Please know that I am not asking nor hoping, much less expecting, members of the parish to agree with me about my political analysis. But I do feel duty-bound to warn of looming danger, as a man in a watchtower, as Ezekiel 33 makes clear. I don’t always get it right, but I do feel a burden to protect, even in the medical and political context. Though I may not be “expert” in matters political, medical, climate, as your pastor (and as a prophet), I consider it my duty to bring to your attention what is transpiring in Canada right now, and to contemplate, by faith and reason, where it might well lead. A line is being crossed in Western nations, in terms of federal authority in democratic nations. And, as has been the case here around Covid-19, there seems to be a coordinated attempt to demonize the “opposition” and to speak falsely about them in order to get them (and the entire nation) to “get on board” with the “proper, acceptable” way of thinking. In ways that becoming quite clear, but were only hinted at before, governments are monitoring Facebook posts. I was horrified by a video a woman took of a Provincial Police representative in Ontario coming to her home in Ontario to tell her (based on her membership in a Facebook group that supports the Freedom Convoy) that she has the right to peacefully protest.

It doesn’t take a conspiracy theorist to infer that the explicit text of what she spoke said she was free, the subtext quite clear: Your Facebook posts and membership are being monitored by the government.

Seeking a Proper Balance

The last time that I ventured into such contentious territory was in May of this past year. I was angered by the coercive press of those who were seeking to get everyone vaccinated, including children. I pressed hard, and my tone was admittedly sinful, arrogant, and dismissive. As those who receive my parish emails know, I acknowledged that in an email I sent out on May 7, 2021, which included the following paragraphs:

These past few days some of you have emailed to express concerns about my comments prior to (and after) Masses this past Sunday. After some time of prayer and reflection, I am emailing all of you to express my regrets that I chose to make those comments in the surround of the Mass rather than in a different context. I also want to acknowledge the offensive attitudes of pride with which I spoke. Many of you know that I believe that the Lord has given me a charisma of prophecy, and I think that the gift has helped me preach effectively and well (at least sometimes!) This moment has been an invitation to me to recommit myself to heeding the Lord more, because I desire to use all my gifts in ways that build up the Body, guard the flock, and point always to the Lord and his healing love. I'm afraid that I have sometimes (I suspect all too often) gotten in the way of the faithful hearing the Lord because I can be so loud. I'm very sorry about that . . .

I concluded the email this way:

My comments, alas, were rudely dismissive of differences of opinion and I oversimplified the question. Ironically, what I said was coercive, since I failed to honor and acknowledge the freedom of those who hold different views or choose different paths from the one I've discerned for myself. I got carried away by my concerns, and allowed my anger (and arrogance) to guide my words and tone. Please forgive me.

And, if you would, please pray for those who were alienated by my words, tone, and actions this past weekend or who might have been hurt by me on previous occasions, that they will not be hindered in their relationship with the God of love, who, thanks be to God, allows us to always begin again.

With prayers for wisdom and grace,

Father Steve

Where Things Stand Now

As I have prayerfully reflected on my homily, I do not feel need to apologize for what I said. I am happy to talk with anyone who has concerns or questions about what I said. I covet your prayers for me, as I continue to seek the Lord’s leading in these challenging, dangerous times. I believe that, with faith, hope, and love, we do well to prayerfully prepare for potential monitoring, denunciations, and exclusions based on our moral positions that are not acceptable to the “Global Elites,” such as those who are under the sway of Klaus Schwab and the World Economic Forum. In my homily, I mentioned the World Economic Forum’s boo, The Great Narrative, and I invite those who are skeptical of my concerns to take a look at their plans for you, me, and all the world. I say that not to scare you, but to invite you to be skeptical of efforts by local, state, and federal officials to “ensure your safety and health.” That’s how authoritarian regimes get their power. Just see what’s happening in Canada today. All in the name of safety and security. We are the ones who hold to the true “Great Narrative,” which is centered on the Paschal Mystery. We are bearers of the Gospel, which is for all men and women, and guides us into all truth, the truth that can set us free. May we never shrink back, but boldly proclaim the truth as we find it in Christ. Come, Holy Spirit!

With continued prayers for wisdom and grace,

Father Steve

We invite the men of the parish to join Fr Steve for the screening of the HBO Series Band of Brothers beginning this coming Wednesday evening at 7:30 in Mercy Hall. The series is powerful in many ways, and we will encourage those who attend to engage in discussions after each week about the insights into the virtues and vices, strengths and weaknesses of the characters that are so vividly conveyed throughout the series. This viewing is for the men of the parish. Given the mature themes, we recommend that those attending these evenings be at least 18 years old, though if fathers wish to bring younger sons with them, we will respect their judgment on that.
