Reflections from Time Away

Each day while I was in Copper Harbor, I celebrated Mass. The second to last day I was there, I arrived at the chapel about five minutes before 10:00. A family was there, having spent some time in prayer on their way back home to Chicago. I mentioned that I was going to celebrate Mass in five minutes, and they eagerly said they would join us for Mass. They told me that Kenny had suffered a stroke, and I said that I would offer Mass for his intentions, which I did. Tom, his older brother, was feeling the burden of guiding Kenny's children through the difficult discernment of how best to handle his treatment. The readings seemed opportune, as they centered on the story of Joseph, and how the Lord works all things together for good, as Paul tells us in Romans 8:28.

After Mass, Tom told me that he and his family had prayed the Rosary the night before we had Mass together, asking the Lord and our Lady for help. He said the Lord answered his prayers (obviously). His daughter said it was so good of God to arrange things as He did. They debated about leaving earlier. They thought about coming to the chapel the day before. But they came then. And I did too. The Lord showed up, as it were. He always does, of course. The key is for us to pay attention to His promptings, and to see signs of His providential care for us.

God's Providence and Healing

The daily Mass readings brought this excerpt to mind from the book we gave away a couple of Christmases ago. It centers on God's desire to heal. He will do so if we can let Him help us see our past from the aspect of Love. Of Eternity.

... When we see our past in the light of the Holy Spirit, with the eyes of God, it is created anew. What we pray for in the Psalms comes true: "Make us glad as many days as you have afflicted us, and as many years as we have seen evil" (Ps 90:15). We receive a completely new past. The best moment for this transformation of our past is, of course, at the Eucharist. Do we really mean it when we say: "Say but the word and I shall be healed?" He comes to us to heal all wounds, to transform all sorrow into joy. Do we give him the opportunity to heal us? Do we show him our wounds? We pray: "In your wounds you hide me." "By his wounds you have been healed", we read in the first letter of Peter (2:24). The more we come in contact with these wounds, the more all of our wounds heal. In the Eucharist, the Lord comes to us wounded and sacrificed. That is the right moment to pray: "Jesus, heal these wounds." As soon as you show him your wounds and expose yourself to his healing power, the healing process begins, one that is not like ordinary healing. It is not a question of something old that has caused you much pain and finally ceases to torment

*you. The healing goes back into time and transforms the very moment when you were hurt into a moment of grace. The very wound that was the cause of so much suffering is transformed into a blessing, and all the bitterness it caused is changed into meaningful and fruitful suffering. When Israel could not drink the water in Marah because of its bitterness, Moses called out to the Lord: "... he cried to the Lord; and the Lord showed him a tree, and he threw it into the water, and the water became sweet" (Ex 15:23-25). The wood that we throw into the bitter water is the word "Amen": it is good as it is, and it was good even then, because you, O God, were there. God was there. That is the very first and most important thing that our reading of the Scriptures can teach us: God is there in everything that happens. In the Bible we are dealing with the first cause, not the second. The most dramatic event in Joseph's life, when his brothers sold him, was God's greatest grace. "God sent me before you", he says to his brothers who came to Egypt to buy grain, "to preserve for you a remnant on earth, and to keep alive for you many survivors. So it was not you who sent me here, but God" (Gen 45:7-8). "You meant evil against me; but God meant it for good, to bring it about that many people should be kept alive, as they are today" (Gen 50:20). (Stinissen, Fr. Wilfrid. Into Your Hands Father: Abandoning Ourselves to the God Who Loves Us (pp. 40-42).)*

Beauty of Creation

I'm writing this column on my way back from the Mouth of the Two Hearted River. Last evening, I spent time around a fire, as I have each night during my time away. There is something mesmerizing and therapeutic about the dance of fire and heat. It reminded me of this choice excerpt from Donald Senior's Restoration of Catholic Culture, who describes the joys and powers of the fireplace. Dark skies filled with stars. Fires burning. Life changing. God is good. As I head back, I can say I've been blessed by the time away, but am excited to be back at the parish looking forward to growth personally and for all of us this coming year. Once again, it's a perfect day, filled with beauty and God's blessings. My time away has been a time of rest and renewal, and was marked by prayer. Thanks be to God.

With gratitude for all God's gifts,

Summer Updates from the School

We are mostly finished with the hiring process for the upcoming school year.

3rd Grade Teacher

We will miss having Teresa McDowell as our 3rd grade teacher, but we are happy for her to be able to spend more time with her children and grandchildren. We are also blessed that Niabh Keenan has accepted the 3rd grade position. Niabh is a parishioner at Resurrection who just recently graduated from Grand Valley State. She has done extensive work in youth ministry and substitute teaching with parishes and schools in Grand Rapid, and we are very excited to add her to our teaching staff!

Latin Teacher

We are still searching for someone to teach Latin part-time in the school. Please pray for the Lord to bring us a good candidate for this position and share this opportunity family and friends who also love Latin. They may be interested or know someone who is!

Enrollment

We are anticipating 200 students in the elementary and middle school for the fall, and 40 in the preschool. This will put our school over 90% of our enrollment capacity. We know that is due in large part to the commitment of our pastor, parish, and parishioners for spiritually and materially supporting the school. Our families are so blessed by the school and the community of faith which surrounds our children.

Green Envelopes

Many of our parishioners give directly to the school through the Green Envelope which has been a tremendous blessing to the school for many years! We also have families giving recurring gifts to the school on a weekly or monthly basis. The funds generated through the Green Envelop are essential for supporting the operational needs of the school. It helps us to provide books and instructional materials for students without charging a book fee, and it also helps us to cover the teacher salaries without charging our school families the full cost to educate, which is $5,500 per student. It is only through the generosity of our parish that we can maintain affordable tuition for our families. If you are one of the many parishioners making a direct gift through the Green Envelop in-person or online, thank you for being so generous in supporting the school! And if you didn't know about the Green Envelop but want to make a gift, please look for the Green Envelop next month or go to our online giving platform. <https://www.corlansing.org/give>

Cleaning of the parish hall kitchen will occur on Thursday, July 27, from 9:00am to 12:00pm.

If you are available, please bring your cleaning gloves and join us for an hour or two. Many hands make light work.

We need to keep our kitchen in compliance with the State of Michigan Health codes.

Also, if you have food in the parish hall freezer, please remove it. The freezer will be unplugged on Monday, July 24th. Any food found in the freezer will be discarded. Thank you.
