PARISH MISSION STATEMENT:

Located in the heart of the City of Lansing, the Church of the Resurrection exists to help everyone in our parish family live in the light and hope of the Resurrection. Encouraged by our experience of God's love, we help others come to know and love Jesus in a personal way. Guided by God's truth, we offer answers to life's real challenges. Inspired by the Holy Spirit, we help each other become mature disciples of Christ who will utilize our gifts to spread the Good News of Jesus in word and deed.

Follow-up to Last Week's Homily on Holy Desire

I preached last weekend about the priest retreat, which had just concluded. The title of the retreat was "Holy Desire." As I've shared after previous retreats, the materials from the John Paul II Healing Center are a gift to me and to my brother priests. They have been instrumental in the work of healing that the Lord has been gracious enough to allow to bear fruit here at our parish. I thought I would include in this article some of the quotes from the homily, especially for those who attended the 5:00 p.m. Saturday Mass, which I was not back in time to celebrate. I hope these are helpful.

Behind every disordered desire is a holy desire.
Behind every disordered desire is an unmet need.

Seven Desires/Needs of Every Human Heart:

- To Be Heard and Understood (Listened to, i.e. Feelings, Needs, Struggles and Opinions)
- To Be Affirmed (who we are & what we do.)
- To Be Blessed (Special because of who we are; loved for who we are. We don't have to do anything.)
- To Be Safe (Free from fear and anxiety. Free to explore the world and take new risks.) Perception is key -
- To Be Touched (Attributes to well-being. Safe, non-sexual touch. Sexual touch is the energy inside us to be productive, passionate and creative.)
- To Be Chosen (Selected, chosen for a special relationship. Accepted, desired. The desire to be desired. Marriage is the desire to be passionately desired.)
- To Be Included (Belonging; Broader than chosen we long to belong, to be in community. We long to be a part of something larger than ourselves. Gives sense of well-being, security.)

Behind every disordered desire is an unhealed wound.
Unmet needs in childhood become demands in adults.
Chastity is loving self-gift rather than grasping.

Other Quotes of Relevance:

Jay Stringer: "Shame and isolation drive compulsion." and "When men don't have a sense of meaning and purpose they are more susceptible to pornography and masturbation."

God's Providence and Healing

God will heal our hearts, if we are open to viewing our past from the aspect of Love:

... When we see our past in the light of the Holy Spirit, with the eyes of God, it is created anew. What we pray for in the Psalms comes true:

*"Make us glad as many days as you have afflicted us, and as many years as we have seen evil" (Ps 90:15). We receive a completely new past. The best moment for this transformation of our past is, of course, at the Eucharist. Do we really mean it when we say: "Say but the word and I shall be healed?" He comes to us to heal all wounds, to transform all sorrow into joy. Do we give him the opportunity to heal us? Do we show him our wounds? We pray: "In your wounds you hide me." "By his wounds you have been healed", we read in the first letter of Peter (2:24). The more we come in contact with these wounds, the more all of our wounds heal. In the Eucharist, the Lord comes to us wounded and sacrificed. That is the right moment to pray: "Jesus, heal these wounds." As soon as you show him your wounds and expose yourself to his healing power, the healing process begins, one that is not like ordinary healing. It is not a question of something old that has caused you much pain and finally ceases to torment you. The healing goes back into time and transforms the very moment when you were hurt into a moment of grace. The very wound that was the cause of so much suffering is transformed into a blessing, and all the bitterness it caused is changed into meaningful and fruitful suffering. When Israel could not drink the water in Marah because of its bitterness, Moses called out to the Lord: "... he cried to the Lord; and the Lord showed him a tree, and he threw it into the water, and the water became sweet" (Ex 15:23-25). The wood that we throw into the bitter water is the word "Amen": it is good as it is, and it was good even then, because you, O God, were there. God was there. That is the very first and most important thing that our reading of the Scriptures can teach us: God is there in everything that happens. In the Bible we are dealing with the first cause, not the second. The most dramatic event in Joseph's life, when his brothers sold him, was God's greatest grace. "God sent me before you", he says to his brothers who came to Egypt to buy grain, "to preserve for you a remnant on earth, and to keep alive for you many survivors. So it was not you who sent me here, but God" (Gen 45:7-8). "You meant evil against me; but God meant it for good, to bring it about that many people should be kept alive, as they are today" (Gen 50:20). (Stinissen, Fr. Wilfrid. Into Your Hands Father: Abandoning Ourselves to the God Who Loves Us (pp. 40-42).)*

May God heal all our hearts,
