Feast of the Presentation of the Lord

This year, since February 2 falls on a Sunday, the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord takes precedence over the 4th Sunday of Ordinary Time. This Feast is the 40th day since Christmas, and is when we recall Mary and Joseph coming to Jerusalem to present Jesus after the Mary's ritual purification was completed. It was a day of profound joy for Mary and Joseph, as well as both Anna and Simeon, two faithful Israelites who were awaiting the coming of the Messiah. Today, we call to mind the beautiful light that Christ represents, especially as He came to Jerusalem. This day is often called "Candlemas," because candles are blessed for use in church and in homes. It has traditionally included a procession with candles to remind us of the great privilege we have to be bearers of the Light of Christ. May we welcome Jesus, and recall the profound privilege of being, in Christ, "Lights for the World."

Christians in the World

As we bear the light of Christ to the world, it is well to remind ourselves of the great text called, "Letter to Diognetus," which dates from the Second Century. The letter makes clear the vital role Christians had then, and should have now, to be salt, light, and leaven in our world. The Church was then, and must be still, a sign of contradiction in our world, and a prophetic call to the world to move beyond the fleshly, worldly, and demonic.

Christians are indistinguishable from other men either by nationality, language or customs. They do not inhabit separate cities of their own, or speak a strange dialect, or follow some outlandish way of life. Their teaching is not based upon reveries inspired by the curiosity of men. Unlike some other people, they champion no purely human doctrine. With regard to dress, food and manner of life in general, they follow the customs of whatever city they happen to be living in, whether it is Greek or foreign.

And yet there is something extraordinary about their lives. They live in their own countries as though they were only passing through. They play their full role as citizens, but labor under all the disabilities of aliens. Any country can be their homeland, but for them their homeland, wherever it may be, is a foreign country. Like others, they marry and have children, but they do not expose them. They share their meals, but not their wives. . . . To speak in general terms, we may say that the Christian is to the world what the soul is to the body. As the soul is present in every part of the body, while remaining distinct from it, so Christians are found in all the cities of the world, but cannot be identified with the world. As the visible body contains the invisible soul, so Christians are seen living in the world, but their religious life remains unseen. The body hates the soul and wars against it, not because of any injury the soul has done it, but because of the restriction the soul places on its pleasures. Similarly, the world hates the Christians, not because they have done it any wrong, but because they are opposed to its enjoyments.

Christians love those who hate them just as the soul loves the body and all its members despite the body's hatred. It is by the soul, enclosed within the body, that the body is held together, and similarly, it is by the Christians, detained in the world as in a prison, that the world is held together. . . . As the soul benefits from the deprivation of food and drink, so Christians flourish under persecution. Such is the Christian's lofty and divinely appointed function, from which he is not permitted to excuse himself.

Saints Relics in the Altar

After last week's dedication of the altar, we once again have the relics of the following saints under the altar at which we celebrate the Sacrifice of the Mass: St. Andrew the Apostle; St. Sebastian the Martyr; St. Januarius, Bishop & Martyr; St. Blaise, Bishop & Martyr (whose Feast Day we celebrate on Monday); St. Agnes, Virgin Martyr; St. Agatha, Virgin Martyr; St. Mark, Evangelist; and St. Matthew, Apostle & Evangelist. That's quite a list. Holy Saints, pray for us!
