Today we celebrate Catholic Schools Week. For many, many years, Catholic schools were in relative abundance, especially in the Archdiocese of Detroit. It seems almost every parish had their own school and there was great competition between them. Now, of course, there are few Catholic schools and still some competition, however the competition shows how great each school is in its own right.

The theme of this year's national celebratory week is: "Catholic Schools: Learn. Serve. Lead. Succeed." This theme focuses on the important spiritual, academic and societal contributions provided by a Catholic education firmly rooted in the Truth of the Gospel.

Do Catholic schools still have a place in today's educational system? Absolutely. They are still generally known and respected for their discipline, higher standards in education and of course the passing on of the faith and its integration in life. They are also important in the formation of future vocations for the Church. There are so many wonderful aspects of Catholic schools, it is no wonder why many, many people who are products of them will say in a heartbeat, "I'd choose them again." Catholic schools were always seeking to provide much more than the mere academic aspect of school for they were concerned about all aspects of life in our current world. They were concerned about a respectful social life, a life of service to others, a healthy lifestyle and certainly a solid life not only knowing the faith but living it day in and day out.

Here at Star of the Sea we have an excellent school. There is excellence not only in academics but also in the formation that is incorporated throughout all that we do. Academically our test results clearly show the longer students stay in our school the higher grade level they achieve. Our test results also demonstrate how we stand out compared to the other local schools. Our small classroom sizes provide the opportunity for personalized attention. Our Robotics program is amazing and not found in other schools. Plus, when the parents partner with our super dedicated and faith-filled teachers to reinforce what they learn in school, the sky is the limit! When you add to that the Catholic religious formation, it is a difficult combination to beat!! As our school vision statement says what we are about: "Building Strong Minds and Faithful Hearts through Christ."

Star of the Sea School is this fantastic little gem in the "woods," the neighborhood Catholic school where people care for each other in so many ways. Spread the word. We would love to make the "next Star" from the children who come to us.

 Please share information about our school. Share the information from our school facebook page, or from our parish facebook. Know at any time an interested family can call and arrange for a private tour of the school. We have great things to share!

 Next Sunday is the Feast of the Presentation of the Lord. There is a little ritual at the start of Mass for a blessing of candles. If you wish to bring a candle or two from home, simply place candle on the table in the sanctuary for the blessing and retrieve it after Mass.

Have a great week in the Lord's peace. Spread the word about our excellent school this week. Most importantly, share the faith and the Good News of Jesus' love!

Msg. Gary Smetanka

Sunday of the Word of God

Today we celebrate the first ever Sunday of the Word of God. Today we let Jesus open our minds to the beauty of the Scriptures, so we can proclaim the truth of the Good News that they contain. The Scriptures are not dead letters on a page, but living words that have been given life by the Holy Spirit, who also gives light to our minds when we read them. Nor is the Word of God a list of rules, but an invitation to share the life of the living God, their author.

In his letter establishing today's celebration, Pope Francis shares, "It is fitting, then, that the life of our people be constantly marked by this decisive relationship with the living word that the Lord never tires of speaking to his Bride, that she may grow in love and faithful witness" (Aperuit illis, 2). Every story told in the Scriptures, even the most challenging, reminds us that God loves his people and will always be faithful to the covenant he has made with us. God sent us his Son, the Word Incarnate, not only to show these words of faithful love, but also to show us the depths of faithful love by dying on the cross and rising from the dead. Every word of Scripture points to this message of love enacted in the person of Jesus Christ, who is the Word himself.

In honor of today's celebration, thank the lectors at your parish who proclaim the Word of God and the priests and deacons who preach it. With your family or other parishioners, find a time today to re-read today's Gospel (Matthew 4:12-23) and plan a time this week to read next Sunday's Gospel (Luke 2:22-40). What does God need to teach you and cure within you so you can proclaim the Good News of his kingdom to others?

UNLEASH THE GOSPEL

go and make disciples

We all know the story of the Conversion of St. Paul that the Church celebrates on January 25. It happened on the road to Damascus when Jesus appeared to him. Paul, who was from a Jewish family and trained as a Pharisee, had been persecuting the early Christians.

This life-changing experience led Paul to continue the work Jesus had begun, devoting the rest of his life to spreading the Good News about our salvation through Jesus Christ.

We have great insight into his work from the words of Paul and his followers that are part of the New Testament. And we can all learn something from them.

He knew there was work to be done and he pursued it. There is work for us, too, as we try to share the love and mercy of Jesus with others.

St. Paul was open to God's plan for him. It was in a completely opposite direction from his past, but he embraced his work with zeal. We, too, need to be open to His plan.

Paul went where he needed to be, travelling extensively and establishing Christian communities in various locations.

Our opportunities may be right in our own family, parish, neighborhood, workplace or circle of friends.

His approach was to build bridges, not to be critical or aggressive. Pope Francis said that this was especially true when Paul preached about Jesus to idol worshippers in Athens. Paul didn't give up because they were so far apart in their beliefs.

That is similar to situations we face with someone who has "gone astray". Rather than distancing ourselves, we need to keep in touch, listen, and keep the doors of communication open.

St. Paul was great at follow-up. Due to his travels and later imprisonment, he used letters to stay in contact and continue to teach the early Christian communities. He wrote to encourage them, keep them on the right path, and reinforce what he had taught, using logic and some repetition to make his message clear.

These are all good things to consider as we share the love and mercy of Jesus in the 21st century.

One in the Spirit,
Jean Wersching
