Exercise a little courage and go to confession, turn away from selfishness and sin and back to God. That was the general theme as Pope Francis was urging the faithful who gathered at St. Peter's in the Vatican for a penitential service a few years ago.

"When our desire to be healed becomes more courageous, it leads to prayer, to crying out fervently and persistently for help, as did Bartimeus: 'Jesus, Son of God, have mercy on me.'" Like Bartimeus, who has blind, Catholics go to confession because they want to see again. "Our sins have made us lose sight of all that is good and have robbed us of the beauty of our calling, leading us instead far away from our journey's end." said Pope Francis.

It is easy for us to think we are not blinded, but we are. We are blind to our sin which "impoverishes and isolates us." This blindness only prevents us from seeing what is most important and instead makes us focus on ourselves "until we are indifferent to others and to what is good."

"How easy and misguided it is to believe that life depends on what we have, on our success and on the approval we receive," the pope said. Sin makes the people believe "the economy is only for profit and consumption" and "that personal desires are more important than social responsibility."

Lent is the favorable and acceptable time to come into the Lord's presence and to return to the Lord with all our heart.

This is the time to think about experiencing the Lord's great mercy given to us through the Sacrament of Penance. This is the place for us to go and lay everything on the Lord, leave the baggage behind, and walk away knowing God's unconditional love and mercy for us, his beloved children!

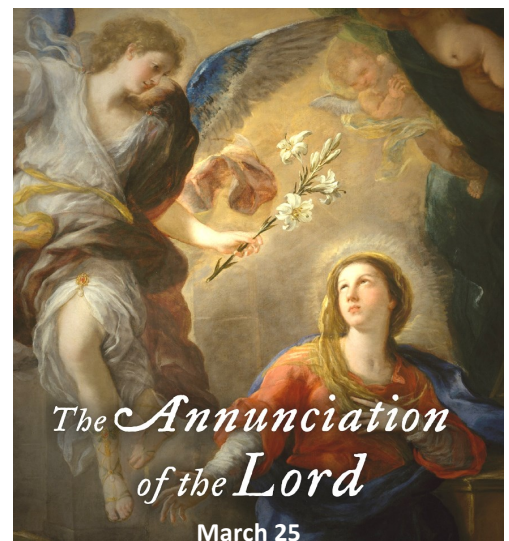

The Sacrament of Penance (Reconciliation) or "confession" is celebrated every Saturday at 3 pm until all have been heard. Next week however, I will be available "in the confessional" two additional times for private confessions, i.e., next Tuesday from 6:30-8 pm and next Thursday morning from 11am - noon. For those who prefer the "communal" celebrations...those will be in a few weeks, on Thursday, April 11 and Monday, April 15.

** Thank you for all you do for the parish, for spreading the Good News and "unleashing the Gospel" in the way we live as loving disciples of Jesus. Thank you for inviting neighbors and friends to experience the parish and especially Sunday Mass.

Experience the goodness of God this week.

FORMING OUR FAITH

Why be SELF-DISCIPLINED?

Quote:

With self-discipline, most everything is possible.

--Theodore Roosevelt

During this season of Lent, many of us have chosen to fast from something as one of our Lenten practices.

Eating habits are an important part of self-discipline. What things have you chosen to "give up" for Lent? How is that going for you? Consider making up a menu of new and more nutritious foods and vow to stick to it for the remainder of Lent.

Another form of fasting has nothing to do with food. You may have heard that Pope Francis challenged Catholics to fast from gossip this Lent.

Pope Francis said in a homily on Sunday, March 3, that Catholics should reflect on the "temptation of gossip" as Lent begins. One thing Catholics should ask themselves, said Pope Francis, is "If, by the end of Lent, we are able to correct this a bit and not go around always criticizing others behind their backs, I assure you (the celebration of) Jesus' resurrection will be more beautiful." He also said Jesus "wants to teach us to not go around criticizing others, not go looking for others' defects, but look first at your own." That is some real food for thought!

Self-discipline is a virtue we could all seek to attain during this season of Lent whether it relates to food, gossip, or other vices/distractions that we want to rid ourselves of. Many blessings on your continued Lenten journey!

Self-Discipline:
having the control to do things you and others need most.

UNLEASH THE GOSPEL

go and make disciples

Scripture speaks often of the three pillars that are essential to living out the faith of our fathers and of Jesus Christ: prayer, fasting and almsgiving.

Prayer and almsgiving seem to be ways that we can combine our spiritual lives with our practical lives. Prayer can flow into performing the works of mercy, and almsgiving can come from that.

How about that third pillar, fasting? I've read that Lent is sometimes called the "Great Fast." It's a period of time in which Christians are meant to give up some comfort or adopt some spiritual practice that leads to self-examination, repentance, and, ultimately, renewal of the soul.

In both the Old and New Testaments, it seems that fasting was standard operating procedure. Jesus didn't say "if you fast," He said, "when you fast."

In our day and age fasting seems to have become a lost discipline among ordinary faithful Catholics.

Oh, I fast and abstain on the designated days and throughout Lent but I don't think I'm always getting the real purpose of fasting. Throughout my lifetime most Catholics' concerns around fasting were: Does the day of fasting begin and end at midnight? How about Sundays? How do I decide what to "give up" aka fast from? The real question is why am I giving a particular thing up.

It seems that we want to know how to fast but that doesn't answer the why we do it. I'm all about understanding why I should do something before I'm told how to do it.

I heard at a retreat that if we want to make changes in our lives, prayer and fasting are the first steps in the process. Prayer I get—fasting not so much. But if Lent is about changing our lives for the better fasting, we are told, is an important catalyst.

The "Great Fast"

I've read and been taught that fasting enables prayer and prayer enables action.

Not eating or giving something up can force us to focus our thoughts and help us not take our blessings of food, money and shelter for granted. Fasting can help us reflect more on what we can do to be intentional disciples of Jesus.

Maybe this Lent I can learn how to better adapt the discipline of fasting to my daily life.

May our Lenten fasting stretch us spiritually and raise our "giving up" to a sacred level.

One in the Spirit
