I hope your Lent activities and challenges have been good and profitable for you! I hope you are discovering something good about yourself, especially something of the holiness God has called you to live out in your life. Remember, no matter what we do in our life as our "vocation," we are still called to live a life of holiness within our vocation. The more we discover our true self, rooted in the original masterpiece God created in us, the more fulfilled we become.

There are a few opportunities this week to engage in or with God. The first one is Monday night during our monthly "holy hour" which begins at 7:30 pm. Our time will be in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament with some music, silence, reflections and adoration of the gift of Jesus in our midst!

The second and third opportunities are with the Sacrament of Reconciliation (aka confession or penance). I know, for many people, to stop your activities mid Saturday afternoon to go and confess your sins is not the most convenient. In order to make it a bit more convenient, I will be available in church Tuesday night from 6:30-8:00 pm and then again Thursday morning from 11am until noon. If you haven't been in a while...be not afraid. I, or any priest, will always help you get through the process! It is a wonderful sacrament to experience as we simply turn over to the Lord all that weigh us down and pull us off the path to be one with the Lord forever!

** Our Friday Fish Frys have been the best in our 9 years of doing them. We had our largest crowds ever the past weeks and the kitchen has been a "well oiled" machine. We so much appreciate your wonderful compliments and we always try to improve the food and the service! Know the Lord's merciful love this week!

FORMING OUR FAITH

Jesus teaches about Forgiveness in the Parable of the Prodigal Son.

Luke 15:1-3,11-32

Making the connection in your family

“Hey, that's not fair!” How many times have we heard this spoken in our family? Family members challenge one another's generosity, operating from the perspective of limited resources. If we have given to one, perhaps there won't be enough for the other. Jesus wants us to understand that this is not how it is with God's mercy and forgiveness. God offers his love to all of us in abundance. The forgiveness of the father in the parable is an image of God's love for us, generous beyond measure in his love for both of his sons. Can we truly believe that God acts this way towards us and accept his mercy without jealousy, knowing that God's love for another does not diminish his love for us?

As you gather as a family, talk about the words and phrases you speak to one another when angry. Identify words or phrases that reflect jealousy towards one another. Talk about why we sometimes feel jealousy towards one another. Read aloud today's Gospel, Luke 15:1-3,11-32. Talk about why the older brother is jealous of the younger brother. Identify words that the family members in the parable might say to one another to begin to heal their broken relationships. Make a family commitment to say these types of words and phrases to one another with greater frequency. Praying together the Lord's Prayer is a great place to start!

UNLEASH THE GOSPEL

go and make disciples

This Sunday is considered the point mid-way between the start of our Lenten journey and our joy in celebrating the Resurrection of the Lord. That makes it a good time to assess how we are doing on our Lenten objectives.

We have been given many suggestions on what we can do. The homilies, scripture readings at Mass, Pre-Lenten Mission, 40 challenges, and a number of special offerings at our parish have been available to us.

All these ideas are intended to lead in one important direction: bringing us closer to God. A good Lenten plan involves some “giving up” and some “giving of self”.

Take fasting, for example. What comes to mind for most people is giving up certain kinds of food. However, Pope Francis has suggested an additional type of “fast”. He would like us to fast from an attitude or habit that needs changing and at the same time replace it with something that is opposite and positive.

Here are a few of his examples: Fast from worries and have trust in God. Fast from sadness and be filled with gratitude. Fast from pressures and be prayerful.

This way of making resolutions has a lot of potential for customization for each individual. Just think of the possibilities! A couple of them might go like this: Fast from fear of being misunderstood and talk to someone about a sensitive matter. Fast from reluctance to volunteer for an activity and actually try it.

The most important thing is being open to what God wants us to “give up” and “give of self” for the rest of Lent and beyond.
