We probably all tend to shy away from difficult times. We do not want to walk into situations that are uncomfortable. It could be seeing someone we love in critical care at a hospital. Maybe it is walking into a funeral home for a family member or a dear friend. Even aware of a potentially tense meeting at work can make us very uneasy and we want to walk the other way.

The shame of recent revelations in the Church, concerning former Cardinal McCarrick and the many clergy from 6 Pennsylvania dioceses, again brings deep sadness, frustration, anger and even despair upon all members of the Church. I am aware of the distrust that has grown within the laity and I am also aware of the profound sadness and anger amongst the clergy who strive to live a priestly life as commissioned on our ordination day.

We again seem to fall into a period of darkness. The norms set forth in the "Dallas Charter" or The Charter for the Protection of Children and Young People has set the foundation for a safe environment for those who are most vulnerable. Clear procedures are established here in the Archdiocese of Detroit and around the country. Without a doubt, recent events call forth for renewed vigilance on the part of the whole Church, every single member, absolutely including our bishops and leaders.

Half and Half

Archbishop Vigneron has written a letter to the faithful regarding these recent events. It can be found on the AoD website, www.aod.org, and you will see the News item about it towards the bottom right of the home page. (if you do not have internet access and would like a copy of his letter, please call the parish office.) I encourage you to read it. It includes his re-commitment to hold bishops accountable as well as all clergy to their own call of holiness in chaste lives, just as all followers of Christ are to live. He calls for continued prayers, first the victims of clergy abuse and then for himself and all clergy. I ditto that call to prayer.

Despite difficult times and darkness, we affirm our belief in the Light of Christ, who came to conquer sin and temptation in our life. Please continue to pray for me, all clergy, our Church leadership and implore the Holy Spirit to help all followers of Christ to live in holiness for God's

Women's Retreat

This year our retreat theme will be: "Holiness is..." In Ephesians 1:4, we read "God chose us in [Christ] before the world began, to be holy and blameless in his sight, to be full of love." The documents of the Second Vatican Council reminded us that all are called to holiness. But "holiness" can be a big topic and we might think we don't really know what it is. And so on this retreat we will reflect on various meanings of that word and what it might mean for us as we respond to God's call.

We can car pool if needed. - To register please contact Debby Veltri in the Parish Office 313.884.5554 ext 2161 or email d.veltri@stargp.org glory and honor.

** I will be joining 300 priests from around the county at a special conference for priests under the direction of Bishop Barron this week. Bishop Barron is without a doubt our preeminent Roman Catholic preacher and evangelist today who uses social media and the arts to teach and preach the doctrine of the Church. He is founder of Word on Fire Catholic Ministries and Auxiliary Bishop in Los Angeles. I am excited to be a part of this special conference. Please pray for all of us participants!

** If you have borrowed a pyx, the gold vessel to take holy communion to someone homebound, and are no longer bring communion to the sick, please return the pyx to church so others can perform the same ministry.

** As I write this article I have no idea what you will see regarding the progress of our new school entry. Hopefully it will be nearly completed. As so many of you know who have renovated homes, you can clear everything in the path on your end but there are still delays on the other end when it comes to construction. Nonetheless we are excited that is finally nearing completion. The work on the expanded mens' room in the gym has gone along well and is very near completion. I am so happy that we are finally able to provide an appropriate ADA bathroom for the men.

** Thank you to the parishioner who took care of having all of our church pews and chairs professionally cleaned! Now all the drips and drops from wax and other things are gone.

** It is that time of the year again... back to school. Yes, some of our youth are already back in school and others are very close! Please pray for them and their families.

Enjoy the Lord's blessings this week!

Msgr. Gary Smetanka

go and make disciples

We have written often in this column and you have heard in homilies that discipleship begins with an encounter with Jesus Christ. We encounter Him in the sacraments, scripture and in other people. Sometimes the first two ways are easier than the 3rd way. Could it be that sometimes we forget that Jesus died and rose from the dead for all people. Not just holy, faithful Christians but everyone.

I'll agree that it is much easier to be around people who hold the same values as we do, with whom we have common interests and can have easy, comfortable conversations about God and all things. But we can't isolate ourselves from the rest of the world.

Of course, the fundamentals of our faith and beliefs cannot be compromised. And it's true that for Catholic Christians the secular cannot be separated from the sacred. But we need to not be tempted to "withdraw" from the secular world and be huddled in our own holy communities in order to be good Catholic Christians.

Jesus wanted his disciples to go into the world and teach all about God's love, mercy and forgiveness.

He wants us to go into the world as He did. That means He knows that we will have to be hanging out with sinners, the homeless, the outcasts, the lost, the unchurched, agnostics and atheists. But he also promises the grace and the power of the Holy Spirit to give us the wisdom and the strength to carry out the mission.

Luke, when writing about the Ascension, in his practical way tells his readers of the disciples with their eyes straining to catch the last glimpse of the cloud bearing Jesus up to heaven. But then he writes, they were quickly brought back to reality. With their eyes heavenward they didn't seem to notice the two heavenly beings that slipped quietly alongside them until they spoke: "Men of Galilee, why are you standing there looking at the sky?"

The sacraments and scriptures are essential to our holiness but we have to ask ourselves that same question. We need to ask ourselves how we are fulfilling our mission as disciples of Christ. Do we see Jesus in everyone? Are we reaching out to others with love?

It is our earth not the sky which we should be occupied with – we need to be witnesses not stargazers!

Our mission is not upwards in nostalgia or longing, but outwards in compassion to a world that needs Jesus.

News in our Community

Department of Evangelization, Catechesis and Schools

An orientation for new directors of religious education will be held on Tuesday, August 28, at Sacred Heart Major Seminary.

The purpose of the day is to acquaint new faith formation leaders with archdiocesan policies and procedures, methods of effective leadership, and the vision for faith formation in our Archdiocese. The schedule includes an overview of the role of the DRE, available tools, and catechist certification.

Not only are gifts to the Catholic Services Appeal helping fund this orientation, they regularly support religious education directors and their staffs through the work of the Department of Evangelization, Catechesis, and Schools.
